Read the story. Circle the words that help you describe the setting. Then answer the questions below.

A DAY AT THE...

It rained today so we could not go outside for recess. Instead, my teacher took us somewhere inside the school. We played basketball on the basketball court. Our gym teacher set up fun games for us to play. We ran all around the big gym and had fun!

Draw a picture of the setting. What is the setting? How do you know?

Name: Alisha

Read the story. Circle the words that help you describe the setting. Then answer the questions below.

A DAY AT THE...

It was such a beautiful day! The sun was shining so we went to the beach. We set up a big towel down. We brought a big umbrella to block out the bright sun. I was excited to jump in the water!

Draw a picture of the setting. What is the setting? How do you know?

The setting is the beach. They set up a big umbrella and a towel in the sand.

SETTING

Setting is where and when the story takes place.

The setting affects what happens in the story.

What are teachers saying about these reading units?

CHARACTER READING UNIT

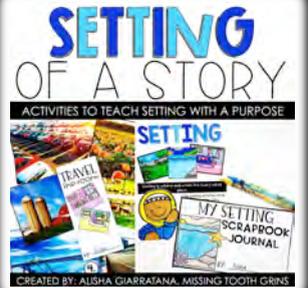

ACTIVITIES TO TEACH MAIN CHARACTER, SUPPORTING CHARACTERS, & CHARACTER TRAITS

"I used this activity for my observation. The students loved the pictures and sorting was fun. So glad I found this and added to my lesson all week. Made for a great observation lesson."

-Wendy

This was an end of the year life saver! This TEK needed to be reviewed at the end of the year and this resource was the perfect way to review. Many activities which was a new change! - Shelby

NON-FICTION READING UNIT

ACTIVITIES TO TEACH ABOUT NON-FICTION TEXT AND TEXT FEATURES

LOVED this purchase. Very worth the money. Sometimes finding nonfiction resources is difficult, so this came in handy! My students were really engaged with all the materials provided. Highly recommend!
